

John Ham son of Joel W Ham

At the age of twenty, Celina was radiantly beautiful. Small of stature, probably a bare four feet nine or ten but her burnished gold hair and her laughing blue eyes sent many a gallant's heart to pounding. Especially did the heart of John Hamn skip a beat when he laid eyes on her first. He met her and received permission to call on his next trip to his father's planation in Louisiana.

John Hamn burned up the trail between Shelbyville and West Hamilton that spring and the next fall he won his heart's desire. They were married with the blessings of Meredith Webb and the groom took his fair bride to the new home he had built at Salem, a new community located on the line between Shelby and San Augustine County. Hamn's home was on the Shelby County side.

Celina set out to make her marriage a success from the first. Her training in Meredith Webb's home had prepared her well and she soon became one of the finest cooks in the territory. Her apple tarts were renowned clear to Mississippi; one traveler even vowed he had heard tell of them in Georgia, but, Celina always threatened him with a carving knife at this speech and declared he only said this to get another helping.

Shadows were failing fast upon the Southland, and the long arm of unrest reached even the home of the Hamn's. At evening time, sweaty farmers would tramp to the Hamn home and talk about succession, abolition and that Yankee called Lincoln.

Like, rising thunder and sharp lightning before a storm, strong resentment set the simple farmers around Salem afire with indignant restlessness, and the booming cannons at Fort Moultrie and Sumter were echoed by the fierce shouts that arose throughout East Texas. It was war. The Carolinas were embroiled, Virginia was smouldering, and a fiery Southerner Jeff Davis, was being enjoined by old West Pointers such as Lee and by horseman and campaigners as Jackson and Stuart.

One day John Hamn came home to his wife and new born babe with tears in his eyes. "Celina", he said solemnly, "I'm going to war". And Celina, the thoroughbred that she was, with the blood, of Meredith Webb pounding at her temples, clutched her child and bit her lips until the blood came. Her eyes were dry and her voice steady as she faced her husband. "Yes, John, I know you are going to war."

Many a home in the Southland was sad, but Celina's home was industrious and happy as any home with John gone to fight.

The days were not all dark, for there were times when the thunder, of hoofs could be heard and a man's heavy breathing as John Hamn walked in with a broad smile, handsome in his gray uniform and his black boots. Sometimes he rode for days without rest, and many times without food, to spend a few precious minutes with his wife and baby; then he would bid good bye and dash off again to join his command.

The first battle of Bull Run was past and with it the hopes of the Southland. The North won many battles which showed the slump of the South. Celina saw that her husband's face was more haggard and his visits less frequent than before, and her womanly intuition soon defined the cause; men were scarce and every John Hamn was needed at the front regardless of the aching hearts at home.

Then came Appomattox and Lee's surrender to General Grant on April 9, 1865. At the very minute he was offering his sword to have it gallantly refused by the officer in blue, Celina Hamn was crying her eyes out, for she knew that the end was near and that her husband, though back with her, would never be the same. He took the war too hard. He was wrapped up in the Confederate Cause, John Hamn came home a different man and his death soon followed. Celina bore up remarkably and devoted all of her time to her six children. She saw that her farm was going to ruin without a man's hand and it was with relief that she turned to her second lover, a fine man from Alabama, Andrew Butts.

HENRY R. MARTIN.

It is true that a pony worth $20, with neither saddle nor bridle, is not a very large amount of capital to begin life with, yet that was the only start HENRY R. MARTIN had, and from it he has become one of the wealthiest cattle men and most prominent citizens of Comanche County. His life has been an active one throughout, but Texas is not the only field, by any means, to which his activity has been confined; it has extended over the entire West, the Pacific Slope being the field of his successful beginning.

HENRY R. MARTIN was born in Georgia on May 8, 1829, and as soon as he arrived at a sufficient age he began work on his father's farm, at which occupation he was employed until twenty-one years of age. In 1850 he left home and went to Yalobusha County, Mississippi, where he again engaged in farming. He remained in Mississippi about three years, and in the fall of 1853 made his first trip to Texas to pay a visit to his father who then resided in Bell County. He does not seem to have been very favorably impressed with Bell County for in January, 1854, we find him in New Orleans, at which town he embarked for Aspinwall. On his arrival in Aspinwall the young man's finances appear to have been at a very low ebb, his passage money having been a severe drain on his resources. Nothing daunted, however, he proceeded to cross the Isthmus as best he could to Panama, and thence made his way to San Francisco. From San Francisco he at once proceeded to the mines in Tuolumne County, California, which at that time presented a scene of the busiest mining excitement on the whole Pacific Coast. On reaching the mines, young MARTIN found himself completely broke—literally not possessing enough money to purchase a meal. Once more he demonstrated his ability to bear up under the most depressing circumstances. It was not long before he succeeded in securing a lot of tools on credit and began mining in earnest, which occupation he followed closely for about two-and-a-half years. He then decided that produce and general marketing contained more gold for him than the mines, so he abandoned the pick and shovel, purchased a four mule team and at once began to buy and sell produce among the merchants and miners, making about $200 per month clear. Meeting with such unqualified success in his new venture, it was not long before he had increased his four mule team to eight mules. With the increase of his trading facilities his income kept up, and he now added a side issue consisting of a flock of sheep. These he improved for about two years, sold for a good profit and invested the proceeds in cattle. In November, 1858, he started for home to see his wife and child whom he had not seen for five years. Taking the Overland Butterfield Route via St. Louis, he reached home in December. He did not remain in Mississippi long on this visit, for in January, 1859, we find him once more on his way to Texas, this time with his family in a two mule wagon. Reaching Vicksburg, the water was so high that it was impossible to cross, so he was compelled to ship to Gaines' Landing, Arkansas. From there he drove to Dallas, Texas, and from there to Comanche County, reaching Cora, the then county seat, February 21. He at once engaged in raising cattle on Sweetwater Creek, at the same time farming in a small way. In July of the same year he made a second trip to California to look after and dispose of his cattle and other property. Arriving there and finding it impossible to dispose of his cattle with any degree of profit, he drove them across the mountains to Carson's Valley, Utah, now Nevada. Soon after his arrival in the valley he sustained a very painful injury, in the shape of an accidental shot wound in the leg, which necessitated his remaining there for several months. As soon as he was able to get around he immediately disposed of his cattle and started for his home in Texas, reaching there December 1, 1860, and at once entered upon the active life of the cattle raiser. His range was at that time in Comanche County, but in 1876 he moved the greater portion of his herd to Taylor County, near Buffalo Gap. From there he moved them to Crosby and Dickens Counties in 1883. In the fall of 1886 he moved one herd to Grant County, New Mexico, locating in the Carlisle Mountains, fifty miles west of Silver City. He moved the second herd to the same place in 1887, but sustained very heavy loss in crossing the plains from heat and drought. His two sons, John A. and William H., are now residing in New Mexico looking after this ranch and cattle. The New Mexico interests are, however, but a very small proportion of Mr. MARTIN's possessions. He has an extensive ranch in Comanche County of between 10,000 and 20,000 acres on which he raises both cattle and horses, and also owns several farms in the county with about 1,400 acres under cultivation.

He is President of the First National Bank of Comanche, also of the Oil Mill Company, and possesses large interests in numerous other enterprises in the same town. He is justly proud of his splendid success, is public spirited, gives liberally to charitable institutions, and is always ready to extend a helping hand to less fortunate fellow mortals.

MR. MARTIN has been twice married. His first wife was Martha Maxwell Ross, of Tennessee, whom he married in March, 1853, in Mississippi, and who bore him four children: John Alexander, William Henry, Calvin Davis and W. H. His second wife was Martha J., daughter of William Stone and widow of Gabriel Rattief. This marriage was celebrated May 11, 1863, and she bore him six children: Elizabeth Blander, Mary E., Sarah J., James Monroe, Martha J. and Lucy N.

His father, Henry Martin, was a native of Ridgefield, South Carolina, of Irish parentage, and married Blander, daughter of William Dooley, of Georgia, born in 1821. They were married in 1820, and had thirteen children, HENRY R., the subject of this sketch, being the fifth.

Henry Martin, the father, was a successful farmer and stock raiser in Georgia. In the fall of 1853 he moved to Bell County, Texas. In the winter of 1855 he moved to Comanche County, and he, with J. A. McGuire, were the first white men to haul a load of household goods into Comanche County.)

FOOTNOTES:

¹ Mobile District was only a political division under the treaty of 10 Mar 1763 between England and France.

² The Province of Louisiana was formed in 1705 but did not serve as a county as we know it, and was subsequently divided into 9 districts for Mississippi, Alabama, and Louisiana.

HOW TO USE THIS INDEX

THE INDEX TO THE 1850 FEDERAL CENSUS IS PRINTED IN FOUR COLUMNS. THE FOLLOWING PARAGRAPHS EXPLAIN THE MEANING OF EACH COLUMN WITH OTHER NECESSARY DETAILS FOR ITS USE.

COLUMN ONE

THE FIRST COLUMN LISTS IN ALPHABETICAL ORDER THE NAME OF THE INDIVIDUALS FOUND IN THE ORIGINAL CENSUS RECORD. IT SHOULD BE UNDERSTOOD THAT ALL OF THE NAMES ARE NOT INDEXED, BUT ONLY THOSE INDIVIDUALS WHO APPEAR AS THE HEAD OF A FAMILY, OR ANYONE LIVING WITHIN THE HOME WITH A DIFFERENT SURNAME. THE FOLLOWING EXAMPLES WILL ILLUSTRATE THIS. THOSE NAMES WHICH WOULD APPEAR IN THE INDEX ARE MARKED WITH AN ASTERISK (*).

FAMILY #1	JOHN SMITH*	43 M
	SALLY "	42 F
	JOHN " JR.	19 M
	SARAH "	15 F
	WILLIAM "	12 M
	JOHN THOMPSON*	23 M
	SALLY "	22 F
	WILLIAM SMITH	73 M
	FRANCES JONES*	70 F
FAMILY #2	JOHN WILLIAMS*	22 M
FAMILY #3	SAMUEL WILLIAMS*	29 M
	JANE "	30 F
	PHEBE "	15 F
	WILLIAM OLSON*	3/12 M

TWO OTHER POINTS OF IMPORTANCE SHOULD BE NOTED. FIRST, THE ASTERISK IN THE INDEX FOLLOWING A NAME INDICATES THAT THE SPELLING OF THE NAME IS IN QUESTION IN THE ORIGINAL TEXT. SECOND, WHEN GIVEN NAMES ARE ABBREVIATED IN THE CENSUS AND THE ABBREVIATION IS CLEARLY UNDERSTOOD, THE NAME IS WRITTEN OUT IN THE INDEX.

COLUMN TWO

COLUMN TWO CONTAINS A FOUR LETTER CODE WHICH PERTAINS TO THE COUNTIES. EACH CODE USES THE FIRST THREE LETTERS OF THE REGULAR SPELLING OF THE COUNTY; THUS PROV STANDS FOR PROVIDENCE COUNTY, NEWP STANDS FOR NEWPORT COUNTY, WASH STANDS FOR WASHINGTON COUNTY, KENT STANDS FOR KENT COUNTY, AND BRIS STANDS FOR BRISTOL COUNTY.

Dear Dixie,

It is so hard to find the words to thank someone who has gone out of there way to help a stranger. Maybe a BIG THANK YOU might do. I do appreciate your help. I will be writing to Barbara to see if she might send me a copy of the information she has on the Martins. This could be the break through we have been looking for.

I am sending you the family sheets we are working on of our Great Great Grandfather (Henry R. Martin, Sr.) and the family sheets of his oldest son (that we know of) William Hogan Martin, and his children. William Hogan Martin's oldest son (Henry Macajah/Micajah Martin) and family is the part of the family you have been helping me with. Our goal is to complete the whole family and trace it back as far as possible. Having a big problem with this, because know one seems to know who Henry R. Martin, Sr.'s father or mother might have been.

Dixie thank you again. I am enclosing a check for copies, postage, gas etc. and again thank you for helping me. When I finish the Martin family do you want a copy of the information for the library? I will be happy to send it to you. Maybe it might help future researchers.

Our best to you and family,

What do you think?
His Birth date ok? He was born in Miss.
But here is off 2 years.

I think the Martins that gave us the places of birth might have been guessing?
